Honours Golf Selects VCT as its ePublishing Partner in the Launch of a New eCommunications Initiative

Boston, MA – October 13, 2009 – VCT Corporation (www.vctcorp.com) today announced its relationship with Honours Golf, the Southeast's leading boutique golf management firm. Honours Golf has selected VCT as its strategic ePublishing partner in the launch of a new eCommunications program individually tailored for the clubs under its management. Birmingham-based Honours Golf will rely on VCT to improve the overall quality and resulting metrics of its clubs' member eNewsletters, and to further enhance the Honours brand.

Kelly Newman, Director of Marketing for Honours Golf commented, "In this day and age, club members want the cream of the crop when it comes to preferential treatment. Strengthening member relations is not only a solution for increasing revenue during these difficult economic times, but more importantly, it reinforces the idea that member retention and acquisition starts with one-to-one relationships. Our decision to move forward with this partnership was a result of VCT's successful track record helping club management companies, like ours, plan and execute the rollout of a comprehensive communication strategy that creatively adheres to current trends in the private club industry."

Stephen Ready, VCT's President & CEO stated, "A partnership with such a prestigious management company as Honours Golf is an honor in and of itself and we are extremely proud to be a supporting resource to their team. An eCommunications initiative takes time and meticulous planning, but with our LoyaltyBuilder™ fully managed services, Honours Golf will find it to be a very seamless process, freeing up more time for them to reap the benefits of successful member activation."

Reunion Golf and Country Club, located in Madison, Mississippi, is the first club to launch the new program. The content-rich eNewsletter that VCT has created will function as an email/online magazine hosting club-related content as well as relevant and engaging articles inspired by the unique Reunion lifestyle. The quality and value of this ePublication aims to further emphasize the club's philosophy of "Southern Hospitality at its best."

Todd Hendrix, General Manager of Reunion Golf and Country Club added, "Thanks to VCT, we will be able to better service our membership base by providing more up-to-date news and event announcements that our printed newsletter just could not sustain. We undoubtedly believe that with our investment in VCT's ePublishing service, we will be able to improve our member retention and growth strategies while increasing awareness around the value of our club brand and offerings."
